Jim is a member of the litigation department whose practice focuses on civil litigation and business disputes with an emphasis on business torts, breach of fiduciary duty, corporate governance, unfair competition and intellectual property litigation. He advises clients on risk avoidance and dispute resolution and serves as a mediator for business disputes. He also counsels clients on corporate governance in both the for-profit and non-profit sectors. He chaired the firm's Litigation Group from 1992 to 1996.

Jim has over 40 years of experience in trial and appellate courts in Massachusetts. He is admitted in several other jurisdictions, including the U.S. Courts of Appeals for the First, Second, Third and Seventh Circuits in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, respectively; as well as the U.S. District Courts for the Districts of Massachusetts and the Northern District of Ohio; and the U.S. Tax Court. He has also been specially admitted for particular matters in state and/or federal courts in New Hampshire, Connecticut, Illinois, Texas and Washington State. He is an experienced negotiator and has served as a court-appointed master and mediator in complex business disputes.

Jim has been named a Massachusetts "Super Lawyer" by Boston magazine and Law & Politics every year since 2009. Jim was included in the 2025 edition of The Best Lawyers in America® for Appellate Practice, Commercial Litigation, Corporate Law, and Litigation – Intellectual Property. He has been recognized in The Best Lawyers in America® since 2012. Jim was also named the Best Lawyers® Corporate Law "Lawyer of the Year" in Worcester, 2022. Jim has received an AV® Preeminent Peer Review Rating by Martindale-Hubbell, the highest rating available for legal ability and professional ethics.

Jim holds leadership positions as an officer and trustee in cultural and education organizations including the Worcester Art Museum and the American Antiquarian Society an internationally renowned independent historical research library. In 2014, the Worcester Telegram & Gazette recognized Jim's service as president of the Higgin's Armory Museum with the Vision 2014 Cultural Enrichment Award.

Representative Matters

- Successfully defended officers of a Nevada corporation by securing trial court decisions that rejected a shareholder demand for books and records; dismissed claims for alleged breach of fiduciary duty and waste of corporate assets; and determined – as a matter of first impression – that Nevada does not recognize claims for minority shareholder oppression.
- Successfully represented a committee of independent directors of a private company in a special investigation that precluded a dissent shareholder from bringing derivative claims for breach of fiduciary duty and waste of corporate assets

- Successfully challenged the decision of a public company's special litigation committee to terminate a shareholder action alleging executive misconduct, played a significant role in a proxy contest and forced a resolution that ultimately generated approximately $64 million for shareholders. The case is the subject of a Harvard Business School Case Study and is featured in a recently published book on corporate governance
- Recovered on behalf of investors a $4 million settlement from the CEO of a public company, paid by the CEO personally for breach of fiduciary duty
- Secured a judgment of more than $6 million against a director who misappropriated funds that were intended for investment in a corporation
- Led the Higgins Armory Museum, as board president, in a highly acclaimed integration with the Worcester Art Museum
- Negotiated a $1.5 million settlement of patent infringement claims against a large international business-news media company
- Secured a settlement of $1 million during trial in a corporate opportunity case against officers of a private company
- Successfully represented the audit committee of a public company in an internal investigation that precluded shareholder litigation
- Successfully represented an officer of a public company in a joint securities fraud investigation by the Department of Justice and the SEC, who elected not to prosecute at the conclusion of the investigation.
- Successfully defended the chairman of the board of a public company in a special investigation that avoided SEC enforcement actions
- Successfully defended a former CEO from company allegations of improper conduct, and subsequently obtained an arbitration award compelling the company to fully reimburse the entire cost of the client's defense
- Obtained injunctions in trademark infringement cases and successfully defended them on appeal
- Defeated a motion for preliminary injunction and subsequently obtained an arbitration award in a complex trade secret case establishing that the client had legitimately acquired the right to use the plaintiff's allegedly secret manufacturing technology, valued at $10 million, without royalty obligations
- Obtained a judgment for triple damages plus attorneys' fees exceeding $1 million in a construction contract dispute that involved unfair trade practices
- Obtained an appellate decision that required an insurer to defend and indemnify its insured from all liability following a denial of coverage, and also ordered the insurer to reimburse insured's attorney fees
- Obtained a landmark appellate decision from the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts ruling that newspapers are exempt from sales and use tax based on the proportion of space devoted to advertising
- Obtained a landmark appellate decision from the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts exonerating senior hospital officials from claims that they wrongfully terminated hospital privileges and engaged in improper electronic eavesdropping on a medical staff physician
- Obtained a U.S. Court of Appeals decision that reversed a judgment for the defendants, directed judgment for the plaintiff on the issue of liability based on interpretation of complex insurance contracts, and remanded the case to the U.S. District Court for calculation of damages thereby precipitating a favorable settlement
- Obtained a decision from the Appellate Tax Board exempting the Hotel at University of Massachusetts from room occupancy tax
- Advised and represented the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC) in negotiating a separation and affiliation agreement with the New England Commission of Higher Education
- Litigated a broad range of disputes to final decisions at the trial and appellate levels
- Frequently negotiated private resolutions of such disputes
- Served as a court-appointed master supervising discovery and successfully mediating the settlement of a complex shareholder dispute
- Counseled and represented business organizations on a broad range of risk management strategies that do not include litigation
